VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

No. 1.

WEDNESDAY, 29TH MAY, 1895.

1. The Legislative Assembly met pursuant to Proclamation of His Excellency the Administrator of the Government, bearing date the second; day of May, 1895—which Proclamation was read by the Clerk, and is as follows:—

FURTHER PROROGUING PARLIAMENT AND FIXING THE TIME FOR HOLDING THE SECOND SESSION OF THE SIXTEENTH PARLIAMENT.

PROCLAMATION

By His Excellency the Honorable Sir John Madden, Knight, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Colony of Victoria, and Administrator of the Government of the said Colony, &c., &c., &c.

Whereas by The Constitution Act it was amongst other things enacted that it should be lawful for the Governor to fix such places within Victoria and, subject to the limitation therein contained, such times for holding the first and every other Session of the Council and Assembly, and to vary and alter the same respectively in such manner as he might think fit; and also from time to time to prorogue the said Council and Assembly, and to dissolve the said Assembly, by Proclamation or otherwise, whenever he should deem it expedient: And whereas the said Council and Assembly, called the "Parliament of Victoria," stand prorogued until Tuesday, the seventh day of May, 1895, and it is expedient further to prorogue the same, and to fix the time for holding the next Session thereof: Now therefore I, the Administrator of the Government of Victoria, in exercise of the power conferred by the said Act, do by this my Proclamation further prorogue the said Parliament of Victoria until Wednesday, the twenty-ninth day of May, 1895; and also I do hereby fix Wednesday, the twenty-ninth day of May aforesaid, as the time for the commencement and holding of the next Session of the said Council and Assembly, called "The Parliament of Victoria," for the despatch of business, at the hour of Two o'clock in the afternoon, in the Parliament Houses, situate in Parliament-place, Spring-street, in the City of Melbourne: And the Honorable the Members of the Legislative Council and the Members of the Legislative Assembly are hereby required to give their attendance at the said time and place accordingly.

Given under my Hand and the Seal of the Colony, at Melbourne, this second day of May, in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, and in the fifty-eighth year of Her Majesty's reign.

JOHN MADDEN.

By His Excellency's Command,

GEORGE TURNER.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

During the recess a meeting of the Premiers of all the Australian Colonies took place at Hobart, with the satisfactory result that an agreement was arrived at by the Premiers of Queensland, New South Wales, South Australia, Tasmania, and Victoria that Bills should be introduced into the Legislatures of those colonies for the election by the people of a Convention to frame a Constitution for a Federated Australia. My Advisers trust that the course of events in the mother colony will afford them the opportunity of laying before you shortly for your consideration a Bill to provide for the election of Victorian Representatives to the proposed Convention, and thus enable Victoria once again to show the zeal and earnestness with which Federation is desired.

A Session of the Federal Council has also been held during the recess, at which, for the first time, the colonies enjoyed the larger representation recently granted to them. Although no important measure was passed into law, the meeting was not unproductive of good in cementing the federal spirit amongst the colonies represented.

The Government, believing that the absolute stoppage of public works would accentuate the then prevailing distress, have proceeded with such reproductive undertakings as they could safely carry out, especially in re-grading railway lines, and they have made provision for other extensive works during the coming winter.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

For the first time you will have an apportunity of appointing the Committee of Public Accounts under the provisions of the Standing Order passed last Session. It is to be hoped that the establishment of this Committee will add another salutary check to undue and extravagant expenditure of the public money; and you will be asked to pass such legislation as will securely safeguard the Trust Funds.

The Estimates of Expenditure which will be submitted to you will show that my Advisers have redeemed their promises to effect large savings in the cost of government. Since the close of last Session they have kept steadily in view the necessity of reducing the expenditure of Victoria to a sun justified by the population and wealth of the country. By amalgamating Departments, and by otherwise exercising the strictest economy and the keenest supervision as to expenditure, they have been enabled to make systematic and permanent reductions to a very large extent in the cost of the Public Service, and this with the least hardship to individuals and without wholesale dismissals. My Advisers confidently anticipate that the expenditure of the next financial year will be kept well within the income, and they realize that it is only by continued economies on a settled plan that any permanent relief can be afforded to the taxpayer.

The first measure to be laid before you will be a Bill to provide for the Revision of the Tariff. The Board appointed to inquire into the effects of the fiscal system of Victoria upon industry and production have brought their valuable labours to a close; and their Report, in which a mass of most important evidence regarding the industries and productions of the country has been arranged and analyzed, will be of the greatest assistance to you in dealing with this intricate

It is now fully recognised that the Colony must use every effort to encourage the production of such articles as can be profitably exported. One great factor in successful production is the obtaining of money at a low rate of interest. As soon as the Royal Commission appointed to inquire into this subject, and as to the establishment of a State Bank, have furnished their Report, my Ministers will be prepared to lay before you a measure dealing with the whole question in a liberal and comprehensive manner.

Although, from various causes, much difficulty has occurred in the establishment of Village Settlements and the sums originally allotted to the settlers have proved inadequate, my Advisers have endeavoured to improve the condition of the settlers and make the settlements successful; and your sanction will be asked to a further grant to enable advances to be made to settlers to the amounts that experience has shown to be necessary.

Mr. President and Honorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

An important factor in the success of production is the cheapness and convenience of transport. I am glad to be able to announce that arrangements have been made for the carriage of frozen produce to Europe at lower rates than any hitherto prevailing, and it is believed that even better terms will be obtained next year in response to tenders which have already been invited.

The Bill to facilitate settlement in the Mallee country failed to become law last Session.

it is absolutely necessary, if the farming population are to be kept from leaving Victoria and settling in the neighbouring colonies, that sufficient inducement should be held out to them to remain here, my Advisers will take an early opportunity of again dealing with this subject.

For many years differences have, unfortunately, existed in the Mildura district which have retarded progress there, and the Government have prepared the necessary Bill to carry out the wishes of the settlers, and trust that it may be passed into law as early as possible.

A Bill for the amendment of the law relating to Companies will be again submitted for your consideration.

My Advisers have appointed a Board to inquire into the management of the Railways, in order that a further effort may be made to conduct the business in such a manner as to greatly lessen if not altogether prevent the annual deficit, and their Report will be presented to you to be dealt with.

Proposals for the amendment of the Constitution Act, for establishing the principle of one adult one vote, and for facilitating the settlement of differences between the two Houses of the Legislature will be placed before you.

As soon as the Standing Committee on Railways has reported on the two important subjects which have been remitted to them, my Advisers hope to be enabled to lay before you satisfactory proposals for the construction of railways.

Experience has shown that the Factories Act requires amendment to carry out the intentions of the framers, and you will be asked to pass a remedial measure so as to check the practice of "sweating" and insure work being carried on under proper sanitary conditions.

My Advisers, believing that the best interests of the Colony will be promoted by the judicious development of its natural resources, are taking practical steps to encourage the production of valuable oil and fibre plants of various kinds; and having ascertained by actual tests that several portions of the Colony are admirably suited for the growth of sugar-beet of a very superior quality, will submit to you a Bill to encourage the establishment of sugar-beet factories.

Not the least satisfactory sign of returning prosperity is the advance that the mining industry has made as regards the two great products of gold and coal. During the past year a great increase has taken place both in production and in the number of men who have been employed in mining. With the object of maintaining this increase, a Bill will be submitted to you to consolidate the law relating to mining and mining operations.

The Report of the Water Commission will be ready shortly, and you will be asked to pass the necessary Act to place the Water Trusts in a better financial position and to remove the existing difficulties.

It is a quarter of a century since the present Insolvency Law was passed, and in that time numerous defects in principles and in details have become apparent. My Advisers, having carefully considered the question and taken expert evidence, have framed a Bill to remedy these defects, which will be laid before you at the earliest opportunity.

The Royal Commission on Charities have concluded their valuable investigations, and my Advisers will place before you a Bill to provide for the better regulation and maintenance of Charitable Institutions.

Bills have also been prepared dealing with many other important matters, including the amendment of the Purification of Rolls Act, so as to facilitate the enfranchisement of electors; the regulation of Electric Lighting; the consolidation of the law relating to the Sales of Goods; the settlement of Trade Disputes; the amendment of the law relating to Trustees; the authorization of Advances to certain Municipalities; the regulation of the Width of Tires; the amendment of the Explosives Act; to provide a Site for Powder Magazines at a safe distance from Melbourne; to effectually deal with Insect Pests; to amend the law relating to Distillation; to amend the Marine Act; to deal with questions affecting the Game Act.

I now leave you to your deliberations, which I trust, by the blessing of Divine Providence, will result in the restored prosperity and continued advancement of the people of Victoria.

JOHN MADDEN.

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

No. 46.

TUESDAY, 17TH SEPTEMBER, 1895.

- 1. The House met pursuant to adjournment.—Mr. Speaker took the Chair.
- 2. Explanation by Mr. Speaker.—Mr. Speaker addressed the House as follows:—

Before the business is called on, I think it my duty to refer to what took place at the termination of the meeting of the Assembly on Thursday afternoon last. It has been said—and I believe Honorable Members have said so-that a division was called for on the motion for the adjournment of the debate, and that that call was wilfully ignored by myself. I wish to state to the House the exact particulars as they occurred—that, and nothing more. The motion for the adjournment the exact particulars as they occurred—that, and nothing more. The motion for the adjournment of the debate was proposed by the Honorable Member for Collingwood (Mr. Beazley), and was adopted by the Government. The time had arrived when—although there was not a Sessional Order to that effect—there was an understanding that the House should adjourn the business on Thursday, namely, six o'clock. When the motion for the adjournment of the debate was moved it was about six o'clock, and I put the question—"That the debate be now adjourned." I was not satisfied with the response—which was feeble—and I put the question again. The Ayes were loud, and the Noes were loud. To my mind it appeared that the volume of sound—the number of voices—was greater with the Ayes than with the Noes, and I said —"The Ayes have it." To my astonishment, because I turned to the left, no demand for a division was made. Had there been such a demand, even by a single Member, I can assure the House that it would not only have been my duty but my earnest desire to give effect to that demand by telling the Clerk to ring the bells, and intimating that a division would take place. No such voice reached me. I am not saying—I do not wish to say—that Honorable Members who have stated that they called "Divide" did not call "Divide;" but I do say that no word "Divide" or "the Noes have it" reached my ears; and I wish also to tell Honorable Members that I am supported in that by all the independent authorities in the House. The Clerk, who sits at the table, is, as all Honorable Members know, a most diligent officer, always on the alert, quick to do his duty, and very observant of what takes place; and he has able assistance in the two Clerks-Assistant. When I first saw the account—because it was like a "bolt from the blue" to me—of the excited meeting which had taken place after I left the Chair, before I had seen the officers of the House I was afraid that my ears might have been dull, and there might have been a call which I did not hear. When, however, I was able to place myself in communication with the officers I found that the Clerk bore out absolutely my own view of the matter; he had heard no such cry as "Divide" when I had given my decision for the Ayes on the motion for the adjournment of the debate. I would ask Honorable Members to let their minds separate the question of the adjournment of the debate from the question of the adjournment of the House which took place afterwards. No doubt there were cries of "Divide" then, but I am now speaking of the motion that the debate be adjourned. As the Clerk usually does, he had his hand upon the key ready for the bells to ring; and he also were surprised either the resided debate which had taken place and the land News that and he also was surprised, after the excited debate which had taken place and the loud Noes, that no division was called for. He then, after waiting the usual second or two-because if divisions are called for they are called for promptly and quickly—and hearing no cry for a division, turned round to me, as he usually does, intimating the next motion—"That the debate be adjourned until Tuesday next," together with the other Orders of the Day. I rose and put that question, asked for the Ayes and Noes upon it, and said—"The Ayes have it." There was plenty of opportunity then, if a mistake had been made or if a division had been called for and the call had not been heard, for any Honorable Member to have addressed the Chair, and stated that he had misunderstood the previous question, and that a division had been called for. Then, although that question had passed, I would—with the usual fairness which I have always (280 copies.)

exercised, and which I think all Speakers have shown when a mistake has been made—have proceeded to rectify the error by allowing a division to take place. But no such statement was made then, or on the motion that the remaining business be postponed until this day; and I then proceeded to put the ordinary motion for the adjournment of the House, after I had first of all seen that the Premier was willing that the House should adjourn. I wish to point out that the Speaker looks to the leader of the House for business, and sometimes the Premier has a notice or intimation to give to Honorable Members before they adjourn; therefore, until I get an indication that the Premier wishes the motion for the adjournment of the House to be put I never put it. But having received the ordinary intimation that the Government was prepared for the House to adjourn. I put the motion for the adjournment of the House; and it was not until I had put that motion and said-"The Aves have it"—a purely formal motion, which is put quickly, as Honorable Members know, as it "The Ayes have it"—a purely formal motion, which is put quickly, as identified and memoers know, as it is always proposed after the business is practically done—it was not until the Mace had been removed from the Table and was down nearly to the Clerk that I heard any cry of "No" or "Divide." I then heard the Honorable Member for Maldon very excitedly cry "No," and to me that was the first intimation that we were not going on in the ordinary way with the concurrence of all parties in the House and of every individual Member in it. But on the question that the House adjourn it is unprecedented to have a division, and while I was startled for a moment, and looked back wondering what the noise meant, seeing that the Mace was off the Table and that the business was all adjourned until the following Tuesday—having to decide quickly—I did as I ordinarily do and followed the Mace out of the chamber. I did this with no greater hurry and with no greater diminution of time than takes place in the ordinary course after the business has been adjourned and no more business can be done. As Honorable Members will bear me out, in common fairness, the difficulty which the Speaker has is to get the final formal motions put before Members have cleared out from the chamber. Sometimes, when I have come in after the House has been in Committee, and have had to put the question that the rest of the business be adjourned and the motion for the adjournment of the House one after the other. I have seen Honorable Members flocking out of that door, and could scarcely obtain sufficient order to hear my own voice.

What I want particularly to impress on Honorable Members is that no cry of "Divide" on the question of the adjourment of the debate reached me. I am not going to say that Honorable Members did not call "Divide" on that question, although I think they have mixed up the cries of "Divide" on the motion for the adjournment of the House with the question of the motion for the adjournment of the debate. But it is on the motion for the adjournment of the debate that everything rests, and the point I want to emphasise, and what I ask Honorable Members to give me credit for, is that on the motion for the adjournment of the debate, I and every independent authority in the House listened, and did not hear one single cry of "Divide." And although I do not say that Honorable Members did not cry "Divide," as they have said they did, I say that there were no audible cries of "Divide," and that I acted with the ordinary impartial fairness with which the Speaker should act. I gave every opportunity, and had I heard a single voice cry "Divide," I would have been only too willing and too anxious to have caused the bells to be rung, and to have had a division. I do not know that I need say much more, because I do not want to go into other things. A great deal has been said and printed which ought not to have been said and printed. That, however, I am not dealing with. I want to establish my impartiality in the minds of Honorable Members. I had no ulterior motive—I could have none. I appeal not only to the independent testimony which I hold in my hand, but to a public career of 35 years. I never in my life was charged with being guilty of a trick, and I took it as the greatest compliment ever paid to me when both sides of this House twelve months since voted me unanimously into the Chair as a fitting sequel, as they said, to a long and honorable career in politics, although I had in many respects differed from many of the Honorable Members who thus elected me. Having borne such a character as that, apart from the absolute facts of this case, I would ask Honorable Members in common fairness to believe that whatever they may think in their own minds as to calls having been made for a division, no such call could have been heard. It was not heard either by the Clerk of the House, by the Clerks-Assistant, or by the gentleman who sits at the Table representing Hansard. The Serjeant-at-Arms, another independent authority, heard no call for a division on the motion for the adjournment of the debate-and what occurred on that motion is the crux of the affair.

I ask Honorable Members to believe that there was no partiality shown, that there was no intention of any divergence from the forms and procedure of the House on the motion for the adjournment of the debate. Honorable Members may have been irritated and annoyed at not having a division, which I feel now they intended to have, and which I regret exceedingly they did not have; but what I say is that it was not my fault. As Speaker I did all that was necessary to enable them to have a division had order been kept, and had the cries for a division been sufficiently audible to be heard by any one of the officers who sat below me. I may remind Honorable Members that the 111th Standing Order does not throw on the Speaker, but upon the Clerk of the House, the duty of taking a division. If a cry of "Divide" is made, the 111th Standing Order says that the Clerk of the Assembly shall immediately ring the bells on the cry for a division, without waiting for any direction from the Speaker at all. However, I do not wish to lay any emphasis upon that point. I take the responsibility upon myself, and I say that I hope Honorable Members will have not only the courtesy, but the moral courage, if they believe I am speaking the truth, to acquit me, every man of them, no matter what their political opinions may be, of having acted in any partial way. Let me say that since I have been Speaker of this House I have allowed no political opinions to bias me. It is not a matter of concern to me, other than as the representative of a district which is very popularly inclined, in what way the House may vote. In accepting the position of Speaker I accepted a position of impartiality and neutrality, and I have adhered strictly to that position from the day I took the office. Having made this explanation-I make it without any temper and without any feeling with respect to some unkind remarks which have been made regarding me-I trust Honorable Members will accept it. It is the substantial matter of impartiality that I care for, and I hope the House, as a whole, will enable me to perform my duties to the satisfaction of myself and to the credit of the House and the country by acquitting me of, at all events, any partiality on Thursday

Sir John McIntyre,	Mr. Burton,	Mr. Maloney,	Mr. Beazley,
Mr. McKenzie,	Mr. Moule.	Mr. McGregor,	Mr. Gray.

And the numbers being equal, Mr. Speaker said—I regret exceedingly that the onus is again thrown on me of giving a casting vote. I think, from the remarks that have been made, that there is some little misapprehension in the minds of Honorable Members on both sides of the House as to what the duty of the Speaker really is, and I would like to read, before I give my decision, a paragraph from May. It is on p. 344 (10th edition), and is in respect to the casting vote of the Speaker. It is

"If the numbers in a division are equal, the Speaker (and in Committee the Chairman, see p. 361), who otherwise never votes, must give the casting voice. In the performance of this duty he is at liberty to vote like any other Member, according to his conscience, without assigning a reason; but, in order to avoid the least imputation upon his impartiality, it is usual for him, when practicable, to vote in such a manner as not to make the decision of the House final, and to explain his reasons, which are entered on the Journal."

When I gave a vote on a similar occasion in regard to almost the same item the Honorable Member for Eastern Suburbs objected, or stated that I had not voted exactly in accordance with precedent. The Honorable Member quoted a case which, as I pointed out to him when he came to the Chair, was not on all fours with the case then before the House. The case to which he referred was that of a Bill when it was at its final stage. It was on the Report of the Bill, and it was in a very thin House. In the division there were 37 Members on each side, and that was in the House of Commons. The Speaker then said that at that last stage he would not take the responsibility of altering the decision of the House in all the previous stages of the Bill. That is a totally different case from the one before us now. On these resolutions being reported a Bill must be brought in, and the House has a full opportunity of considering the question again. I am not, therefore, in the position of being able to distinguish between the Ayes and the Noes as to which is final. Neither will be final at this stage, and I have, therefore, nothing to guide me except my conscience and my own opinion as to the way in which the vote should be given. On this occasion, as on the last, I must give my vote with the Noes.

And so it passed in the negative.

Question—That the words and figures, as so amended, be inserted in place of the words and figures omitted—put and resolved in the affirmative.

And the said resolution, as so amended, was agreed to by the House.

Ordered-That the further consideration of the Report be adjourned until to-morrow.

10. POSTPONEMENT OF ORDERS OF THE DAY.—Ordered—That the consideration of Orders of the Day Nos. 2 to 30 inclusive be postponed until to-morrow.

And then the House, at thirty-seven minutes past ten o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow.

6. Message from His Excellency the Governor.—A Message was delivered by the Usher of the Legislative Council :-

MR. SPEAKER.

The Governor desires this Honorable House to attend His Excellency immediately in the Legislative Council Chamber.

Accordingly Mr. Deputy-Speaker, with the House, went to attend His Excellency, when His Excellency was pleased to give the Royal Assent to the following Public Bills, viz.:—

"An Act to extend the provisions of the Land Acts with regard to the granting of Leases and . Licences."

"An Act to amend the 'Companies Act Amendment Act 1892."

"An Act to enable Victoria to take part in the framing acceptance and enactment of a Federal Constitution for Australasia."

After which His Excellency was pleased to make a Speech to both Houses of Parliament as follows:--

MR. PRESIDENT AND HONORABLE GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I have much pleasure in relieving you of your parliamentary duties after a Session which has not been equalled in recent years for duration or continuous labour.

It is deeply gratifying to be able to state that the Federation of the colonies of Australia, which has been for many years the hope of the great majority of Australians, is at last within a measurable distance of realization, the colonies of New South Wales, South Australia, Tasmania, and Victoria having each passed an Enabling Bill for the election of Members of a Convention, to which is remitted the task of framing an Australian Federal Constitution to be submitted to the people of those colonies for their acceptance. It is to be regretted that Queensland and West Australia have not yet had the opportunity of passing similar Bills, but there is every reason to believe that those colonies will do so when their Parliaments re-assemble. As it is desirable that the elections of Members of the Convention should be held by all the colonies at the same time, my Advisers will consult with the Governments of the other colonies with a view to the elections being held at the earliest practicable date.

A great portion of the Session has been occupied in a revision of the Tariff, and it will be some return for the onerous and unpleasant task so persistently carried out to know that your work has resulted, not only in the abolition of some imposts and the lightening of many others, but also in doing away with numerous anomalies and uncertainties connected with the collection of duties, and so placing the Tariff on a stable basis, to the great benefit of commerce and the gain of the whole community.

The Bill for the management of the Railways to which you have agreed will, I trust, assist in placing the Victorian Railway System on a satisfactory basis. From whatever standpoint this measure may be regarded, it must be considered as of supreme importance to the community.

My Advisers have not lost sight of the necessity of providing work for those likely to be out of employment during the winter months, and, though the Standing Committee on Railways has not been able to report favorably on the construction of any new line of railway, the Bill which you have agreed to in that behalf will enable employment to be given in connexion with work on the existing lines which will be remunerative to the State.

It is pleasant to be able to announce that although many miners have left our shores for Western Australia the yield of gold in Victoria has steadily increased, being larger last year than for a number of years past. The systematic and successful efforts of the Mining Department to open up the outlying parts of the country by cutting tracks and organizing prospecting parties have not only been productive of immediate benefit by contributing largely to this result, but have also encouraged future endeavours by establishing the auriferous wealth of the colony in localities hitherto unproved.

The encouragement of production in other directions has also been promoted, my Advisers having made satisfactory arrangements in connexion with frozen produce which will provide for regular shipments to British ports at a cheaper rate than hitherto.

The question of the settlement of the Mallee country has received your earnest attention, and the legislation you have passed to meet the requirements of that exceptionally situated district is of such a nature that it may reasonably be expected settlement will be extended and production increased in a portion of the country which until recently was regarded as entirely profitless.

The Bill which you have passed for the establishing of manufactories of sugar from beet-root will add a new industry to those already existing in Victoria, and be of especial advantage to the country districts.

My Advisers recognise that an almost unprecedented drought has deeply affected the growers of cereals through a great part of the northern districts, and they will take care by the distribution of seed-wheat and other means to mitigate the calamity as far as possible. Vigorous measures will also be adopted to deal with the rabbit pest, and the Bill you have passed providing for the loan to municipal councils of funds for the purchase of wire netting will materially assist in so doing.

The Commission appointed to inquire into the question of the establishment of a State Bank has presented a valuable report which has been laid before you. One of the earliest measures to be submitted next Session will be a Bill providing for advances to be made at low rates of interest, and under simple and favorable conditions to those engaged in tilling the soil, this being one of the most legitimate and advantageous ways in which a country can aid its producers.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I thank you in the name of Her Majesty for the provision you have made for the service of the year, which whilst ample for the public requirements shows that the necessity of administering the finances with strict economy has not been overlooked.

Mr. President and Honorable Gentlemen of the Legislative Council:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

Amongst the important measures that you have passed may be enumerated the Bill for the arrangement of the differences existing at Mildura, which is intended to place matters on a satisfactory footing in that settlement and aid in its returning prosperity, a Bill whereby the law relating to the sale and purchase of goods has been codified to the great convenience of buyers and sellers, a measure to make the law relating to trusts and trustees conform with modern requirements, a Bill by which the question of the management and control of electric lighting has been dealt with in a manner that must be satisfactory to the important interests concerned, a Bill to suppress the permicious custom of street betting, a Bill for the eradication of diseases in vegetation, and many other useful Bills, including several to facilitate the ordinary transactions of commerce and afford protection against fraud.

It is to be regretted that several most important measures failed to pass both Houses this Session, including the Bill for the reform of the Constitution, the Factories and Workshops Bill dealing with the sweating evil which has unfortunately become so prevalent as to shock the public conscience, and the Bill to amend the law relating to companies so as to afford relief and greater security to the public. The Standing Order recently adopted by the Legislative Assembly will, however, enable these measures to be taken up at an advanced stage next Session, and your attention will be invited to them at an early period when it is to be hoped that flew will become law.

In releasing you from your duties I thank you for the important work that you have done, which I trust will conduce to the progress and welfare of Victoria.

I now in the name of Her Majesty declare this Parliament to be proregued to the 30th day of March, 1896.

BRASSEY.
