The Victorian Parliament

Dear Sirs and Madams,

I am delighted to hear you are considering the vital question of death by personal choice.

Please remember all of us, seniors (I am 81 and have no illnesses at present, that I know of) who wish to be allowed to accept euthanasia when my situation changes, and I find I am suffering from a painful, terminal illness.

I have twice had cancer and both times accepted with gratitude the healing provided by the medical system.

I need to have confidence that should I have a terminal illness again, I will be able to choose legally to be relieved of incurable, unbearable pain by death.

Yours,
Nancy Sheppard.
