In a world of choices I find it extremely difficult to understand why I do not have the right to die in the manner or time of my choice, this decision is not even in the hands of my family who I may be begging to let me go and on occasions asking them to assist me.

I do not understand why the people making the decisions in this country for the people (Australian's the people who they are meant to be working for) are highly religious and openly have stated this goes against their beliefs, I am here to say this is not my belief and I want change. Please put the people who voted you into power to follow through with there beliefs to benefit the country, put your beliefs to the side and do your job that you are getting paid to do.
