My mother has a terminal Neurological Cerebral vascular disease which is spiraling her into an early vascular dementia. Her father died of this horrendous disease, and now her mother in a nursing home with cardiovascular dementia. My mother facing her future in the same manner of dying.

My mother so strongly desires to be allowed to die in dignity before those horrid last months, prior to the legal Morphine sedative style of sedation then starvation and dehydration until death. As a young 30yr old father of two, I cannot understand why anyone that is without any hope of a cure, have no choices or options in how they spend their last weeks/months. except for the given legal one that is an accepted suicide in the hands of a DR administering the sedation "slowly" towards the end of death "anyway" Our family of five is scattered all around Australia and one sister in London. IF Assisted medical euthanasia was allowed we could be with her for a kinder loving supported transition out of her illness. this would be my own personal desire for myself and for my children to be able to send their dad off in a humane manner, for them to share together a less traumatic loss. none of us want to die or be separated from our families. But to have assisted medical Euthanasia as an option, this would change so many of our fears when our time of quality of life has no hope of changing to end our lives in this manner. I can only hope for my mothers sake and all of our family, that people with the power to change this law can open their minds and hearts towards giving all of us who so desire it a deep conscious thought. thank you.
