Peaceful death

I am a 63 years old, living a healthy life. But the topic of euthanasia has been on my mind for many years.

In the past I have worked in age care, and volunteered for Melbourne City Mission. During these time, I saw many people suffering long, drawn out deaths. suffering that could have been avoided.

Dying painlessly and peacefully is important to me. A privilege these people I care for were not allowed.

Today I have the option to determine what I can do, and how I live my life. However, when the time comes I do not have the freedom to end my life at a moment I see fit. No without my friends and family risking prosecution for aiding me.

We agree that no one should impose beliefs on others, and I feel this applies to choosing when and how to leave this world.

I feel this law needs to change. A peaceful death should be allow to anybody who wishes it.
