It is with dismay that any politician or policy maker would introduce a a law legalizing a person's right to die at the hands of, by default, the person/s who assists in the decision to terminate their life.

What is wrong with this scenario is whether everyone can be trusted to ensure a pure motive for allowing this to happen, that the events surrounding euthanasia of a person maybe somewhat selfish against the patient.

We must protect the lives of vulnerable patients who are not in a position to make sound judgements from those who sense opportunity for profit. Please do not follow certain trends for political gain; it cannot guarantee dignity for those who have no voice.

Submitted for your consideration to obtain a just choice. Thank you for your assistance in this matter.
