

Submission Text: I have a small vineyard producing fruit and making wine for 50 years.

I understand that residents in Paris cannot use eggs or fruit/vegetables from their gardens near the incinerator there, despite multiple upgrades, due to contamination from dangerous chemicals such as dioxins. The same emissions from a local facility is likely to contaminate my crop and make it unusable.

I am concerned about exposure from these contaminants also affecting an established and growing community.

Traffic volumes and impact on local roads and access for local community is also worrying.

Sunbury/Bulla is not an appropriate location for such a facility.

I strongly object to this imposition.
