I am writing this submission to state I totally against any form of ground gas extraction. No one can guarantee it to be one hundred percent safe. There is to much to be lost if there is any leakage into our, note OUR environment. If it happens it will be a disaster to our environment, economy and the social well being of our community for not just a short time but for many generations.

If the underground water supply is effected towns such as Portland would have no safe usable water as would a number of other Victorian towns, farms and businesses. What a disaster that would be I believe we should be thinking ahead and not looking for a quick dollar. The money is a short term thing which big businesses only profit on and then leave with no interest or concern for what is left after their got what they wanted. The environment is the only one we have. I am writing this for my children and for the environment which people only too often only notice when it is hurting or effecting them personally. We as a community cannot afford to take the risk.
