I'm writing in regards to the submission objecting to CSG and Unconventional gas mining happening in any way in East Gippsland. I know you will have received many submissions that share all the detailed information on why it is a disastrous idea and how deeply destructive it would be to our beautiful area. Life would never be the same again and over time we would loose our health, livelihoods and fantastic food source. It's not rocket science any intelligent person can see that it should be avoided at all cost. I believe this is a moral and ethical issue. Do you put the people first or the mining companies, it really is as simple as that. Renewable energy has to be the way of the future, else we destroy this planet so changing to renewables now whilst we still have a planet to save seems like a highly intelligent choice. Even children can see the obvious simplicity of the situation. I say "NO" to any more Gas mining in Australia. And God save the future of any politicians who attempt to give gas mining the green light because you'll undoubtedly be looking for a new job. The numbers are stacked against you. Thankyou for letting me have a say

Yours sincerely
Chali Banney
