Our family moved to Breamlea in 1999 in order to raise our children in a clean and free environment. We welcomed the closure of the Anglesea coal mine earlier this year as we had many friends who had suffered that pollution for years. I ask that the government abandon plans for gas exploration off the Surfcoast of Victoria. The beauty of the coastline is famed and attracts many visitors. There are environmentally threatened species both flora and fauna, on land and in the sea. We have many alternative forms of energy, solar and wind being prime examples. The people of the Surfcoast and Victoria are very adaptable and will embrace initiatives that build towards a sustainable clean energy future. The mindset of taking our energy resources from the ground needs to shift. It is very short term (50-100years) and this generation will be looked back upon as unimaginative raiders- the dark ages of energy. Please abandon gas exploration off the Surfcoast of Victoria and invest in a sustainable, clean energy future for Victoria
