Parliamentary Inquiry into Unconventional gas

Please find the following letter as my submission to the parliamentary inquiry.

To whom it may concern,

I recently saw a story on Landline last week that documented the 'aftermath' of the CSG boom in QLD.

These towns, which were subjected to the CSG industry, were transformed into 'mining towns'.

Our beautiful state of Victoria, has no room for the industrialisation of this industry.

Once construction phase had ceased, the towns were left with nothing. People had moved out, property prices for unaffordable or unsellable, towns were left with high unemployment.

This quick grab of the buck, did not seem like a long term gain for the people of these towns.

I stress that this is not the path Victorian towns need to go through.

Thank you,
