Subject: unconventional gas extraction

I wish to express my strong objection to the practice of unconventional gas extraction, particularly when the process of fracking is involved.

I consider that there is insufficient knowledge of the possible consequences of this activity, and too many reports both of unexpected results, and also irresponsible and unlawful activity of those companies who have been given limited permission to undertake it.

The threat of permanent damage to water sources and places of important natural heritage is too great, and no amount of short-term financial gain can justify this danger
