[redacted]

From: Dian [redacted]
Sent: Friday, 10 July 2015 12:09 PM
To: EPC
Subject: Re: unconvential Coal Seam Gas

[redacted]

>[redacted]

>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: Dian Bedggood [redacted]
> Sent: Friday, 10 July 2015 7:46 AM
> To: EPC
> Subject: unconvential Coal Seam Gas
>
> dear Victorian Govt,
> my name is Dian Bedggood, and I currently live in coonabarabran NSW under the PEL 450, SANTOS have the right to put infrastructure and or a gas well on my hectare of land, there is a groundswell of dissent up here against this proposal, that will ,when they commence, disrupt the farms, Siding Springs observatory, has the potential to damage and or poison the ground water for a long time, once this happens hydrologists have said there will be no way to repair it.
> my family came from Meerlieu in Victoria and I am reading with concern the attempts to disrupt and divide this community, this is deeply disturbing to me,on so many levels.
> I have researched the past records of mining companies who have walked away from disasters, and believe the potential risk to the communities is too great to warrant a short term monetary gain, go for sustainable, support communities to flourish, after all they are only thing that matters. Social capital always.
> Sincerely
> dian Bedggood
> i am a Victorian.
>
> Sent from my iPad