Subject: Unconventional gas

I wish to express my strong objection to the adoption of unconventional gas exploitation technologies such as fracking.

The risks to Victoria's precious farming land are in no way justified - Victoria does not need additional gas and Victorian's are unlikely to 'benefit' through reduced energy charges.

This is a short sighted strategy which, for dubious 'benefit', may create long term degradation of our most important resource, agricultural land. It would be short sighted and indeed criminally negligent to undermine Victoria's future in this way.
