Dear Sirs/Mesdames

We don't need this in Victoria. Or anywhere, for that matter, but that is not our remit.

It has been proven that accidents happen and water tables are damaged forever, unusable and tainted.

The process to break through the shale requires water resources that a better saved for more productive purposes, such as subterranean feeding of our water courses, which support our farming and tourism industries.

Fracking, in the scheme of things will be a short term gain for a very long term pain. And the state of Victoria doesn't need that.

Save our water, save our tourism, save jobs and invest in alterative, less polluting energy research.

Thank you

Yours sincerely
