

Inquiry into animal rights activism on Victorian agriculture

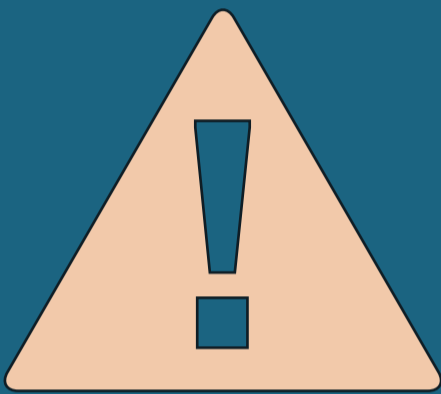

Key findings

Animal welfare standards in Victoria are very high

Strong support for farmers operating businesses lawfully

Animal rights activists spread misinformation and frighten farming families

Illegal activism poses biosecurity risk

Key recommendations

Biosecurity management plans for all animal agriculture businesses

New biosecurity offence and on-the-spot fines

Regulators to help build public confidence in animal agriculture sector

