Thankyou to these animal rescues out there who are doing the job of protecting animals and bringing to our attention what is going on. The government should not be allowing any harm to animals and should be up the front encouraging people to work together to remove any form of animal cruelty. These rescuers are just doing the job for the ineffective government. It's time for the government to speak for the rights of animals. They have endured enough! It needs to stop Now! There needs to be more money given to fruit and vegetable growers to encourage humane farms and not towards animal farming.
