Relevant protection should be given to our law abiding farmers when activists intend to commit criminal offences which otherwise would be punishable to other citizens. IE: stolen livestock are placed in non eligible property, these activists have no PIC # , they remove tags which is punishable by fine etc to farmers if they do this, yet these thieves get away with a slap on the wrist. They need to be made accountable just like any other crime according to POCTA acts. Law abiding other business and the general public are being targeted for just eating meat or supporting ethical farming or breeding.
stop protecting the criminals and start protecting the general public and business which contribute to our economy and life styles.
