Animals deserve rights and freedom, they are mass bred and enslaved to be killed at a fraction of their natural lifespan, animals have souls and their souls do not want to be in these awful circumstances, being locked up for the entirety of their lives, being mistreated by these farmers which we wouldn't even know about if it wasn't for the brave activists, we wouldn't know that piglets have their teeth ripped out and their tails chopped off without pain relief and are then caged until they go on to be inhumanely killed, pigs are put inside gas chambers which is a horrible slow and painful way to die, they scream in pain. Chickens kept in tiny cages where they cant even stretch their wings, baby chicks having their beaks seared off or being minced up alive because they are male, its against human nature to be okay with this! Humans love animals, which we can see by the standards of treatment of cats, dogs, horses, ect. The majority of people do not know the truth behind this industry, it has to be shared to people so they can make a conscious decision about whether or not they wish to support such immense cruelty. Humans do not need animal flesh to survive, every nutrient in flesh is found in plants. We need to rise up against the powers of the industry, reveal it for what it truly is. The animals have suffered enough! This has to be stopped and activists are the only ones helping to make this happen. Money is no longer a reason to keep these animals in horrendous conditions, animals lives matter! We need laws in place to protect them, not be fining the activists for uncovering the truths! Its the biggest injustice as they cant even speak for themselves, they need us to be their voices! Its not only beneficial for the animals but the environment is heavily impacted by this industry, its the leading cause of species extinction, deforestation, water pollution and usage and accounts for more greenhouse gasses than the entire transportation industry. Please help the animals & the environment, which will also positively impact the future of mankind. Activists pose no hazard to farmers, In over 40 years of activists filming inside farms and slaughterhouses, there has not been a single activist-related incident of a bio-security hazard, violence towards farmers or workers, or entry into private homes. Activists are non-violent and have no interest in the homes, families or personal lives of farmers or workers. Factory farms are plagued with mice, rats, birds, bugs, and all manner of disease-carrying wild animals/insects - they are not bio-secure environments.
