I catch the number 72 tram from my home in Prahran to work at Melbourne Central each day. In the afternoon, I struggle to get on my tram at Latrobe St as it is packed with people going a couple of stops.

I pay to travel on public transport to and from the city but am crowded off my tram by people who have often driven into the city and parked on the edge of the CBD and who get the tram ride for nothing.

It's appalling that paying passengers are being displaced by people who have been encourage to drive to the city, adding to congestion.

The Free Tram Zone should be scrapped, not extended!
