The 'city' has expanded and so too should the supporting transport infrastructure. The extension of the free tram zone will assist the mobility of patrons of Universities just beyond the existing Free tram zone, eg. RMIT and Uni Melb, as well hospitals, eg. Peter MacCallum Cancer Centre, and multiple tourist destinations.

In addition to the extension of the Free tram zone I would encourage the city to investigate and establish other ways to make getting around the city faster and more enjoyable.

Reducing cars and increasing the options and quantity of public transport is to be encouraged. Also making bike riding in the city easier and safer would be a big bonus.
