I believe that in the interest of the young and elderly who may find safe public transport more difficult to afford compared with their working professional counterparts. That is it for this reason the public transport system would best benefit those who are frail and may find transport more difficult to obtain and come by. I remember when I was younger and found it difficult to afford transport, it was limiting and did cause hesitation in participation of activities and being out and out in the city.

Please help us put forward this arrangement where those young and older can enjoy the benefits of public transport.
