

Dear Tram Zone Inquiry,

I am emailing in support of submissions by the University of Melbourne to extend the free tram zone to include the Parkville precinct. Providing free transport to the University – as well as to the Parkville Hospital Precinct – will increase access to these valuable public institutions. My students are often struggling to balance their studies with working multiple jobs. Any assistance that can be provided to them should certainly be considered by the Parliament, particularly given the economic benefits that university students, particularly often financially strapped international students, provide to the state.

Best wishes
Cathy
