I find the Free Tram Zone to have the effects as the tram drivers claim. Overcrowding because people are too lazy to wal a block or two. Why not make it discounted fares for this zone where the traveller still touches on and off? Another consideration is to have the touch off machines at the tram stop so commuters may egress quickly and touch off at the stop, this freeing up the movement of people on the trams. Using MYKI is not hard but it sure could be a lot simpler.
