

You can never achieve zero can't happen, who ever came up with that slogan needs to be sacked. The speed zones there are to many, to much distraction and panic as to what zone your in. We need 60, 80, 100, 130, Km/h zones that's it. There are too many big flashing sign's they are to bright.

Cars have huge blind spots, and the headlight spot lights are dangerous, because they dont fully light up the road and tend to blind on comming drivers as they seem poorly adjusted.

My name is Stuart Willis

Thank you.
