Dear Sirs. I would like to make this private submission as I feel the RSPCA have lost the direction expected of them by the public within their charter. The public expect the RSPCA to be challenging the abuse of animals & neglect of their welfare, in conflict against the laws and regulations outlaid by the voter endorsed governments within our state/country. Instead it appears the RSPCA have now taken on an activist role, protesting against activities that have been condoned into law by successive state/federal Australian governments. This in my opinion has put the RSPCA into a position of 'conflict of interest' as effectively they are protesting as activists against the very laws and regulation they are charged with obeying within their charter. Action MUST be taken to ensure the RSPCA are not allowed to continue actively (or passively) protesting against the legal & lawful activities of the Australian public.
