Dear Members ,

Respectfully I point out that a Government's role is to serve the best interests of the people , in a present and future sense .

Science tells us that Global warming is a fact and an extreme issue , compounding in a manner that is definitely impacting the future sustainability of Life as we know it.

Species are becoming extinct at an alarming rate . We know that this is true .

Air pollution is one of the most important factors in causing Global Warming .

Impartial science reveals the truth of this .

Governments appear to ignore this truth . Governments also appear to imagine that they are separate from "the people" , rather than accepting that their role is ONLY to serve the best interests of the people .

To hold any other position is to entirely negate the fact of Democracy , and common sense .

Anyone ignoring the fact of Global Warming and global pollution is doing so to serve the vested interests of themselves and any organisation or individual which benefits from the continuation of practices such as fossil -fuel production and use , and also the practices which involve toxic chemicals (eg. monocrop farming, nuclear waste production etc etc .)

This is quite obvious to anyone who has no vested interests in profiting from pollutive practices.

The Environment which is the basis of Life , is not "out there somewhere else " .

This is it !

We and the Environment are inseparable .

Governments around the world need to wake up to this , and wake up quickly.

The human advances in recent history show us that we as a species have an amazing capacity for invention and change .

Renewable energy sources are now known to be freely available , and the technologies embracing them are advancing rapidly .

The Human Race has a future only if we embrace the science of today and tomorrow in finding solutions which will allow the continuation of our species and all the other equally entitled species of Earth .

Thank You ,

Rhys Jones
