Concerned about the recent measures around public transport. Mask wearing and 'social distance' restrictions are causing a great increase in people making use of cars. Fewer and fewer people are relying on PT to commute and this has expeditionary created more haze and air pollution in our city. Once the State of Emergency is over, a campaign to encourage people back on PT might be required.

Also due to a concentration of service hubs, we have traffic building across Melbourne as the population swells. We should encourage businesses and corporations to set up in regional areas. Incentives like tax breaks should bring employment to less populous areas beyond the metropolitan boundaries of our city.
