

Thank you for this very important enquiry.

My submission is going to be very brief and to the point.

We live on a planet which has evolved a web of living creatures and plants etc. all of which are inextricably linked to each other.

We also are experiencing mass extinctions of these species all over the world, at a rate the world hasn't experienced for a very long period.

We rely on each other for life.

The loss of each species threatens our long term existence by throwing out the balance of this web.

We need to be improving our environment rather than degrading it and paving the way for more extinctions.

Please enact legislation that will ensure our environment and all those that live within it is protected and improved.

Kindest Regards,

Peter Stafford
