[REDACTED] [REDACTED] I am acutely aware of the logging industry and the damaging impact on our native forests and the subsequent impacts on the wildlife and ecosystems. Strong legislation is required to manage and value our native forests and the logging industry has no regard for the forest's long term value.

Of course this relates as well to the waterways which are at present in a pitiful condition, their ecosystems are continually punished by poor management and short sighted farming practices.

This pandemic, the bushfires, the climate crisis is a clarion call for leadership. Now.

Whatever the perceived cost it is not equal to what we are about to lose. We have an opportunity to make changes and stop pandering to loud self interest groups.
