To the Premier and members of the Victorian State Government,

During this pandemic it is easy to give oversight to the need for our country to remain intact regarding our forests and native species. I believe the government is doing its level best with the wave of infections crossing the state and I fully support your efforts. On the other hand, we need to be making our state (and country) into one which takes pride in its flora and fauna and allows the land to remain pristine where it needs to, and be allowed its health as we do ours. It's in our interests to do this. Otherwise there will be little point in our having survived this pandemic if we do not pay due attention to the earth. It supports us.

Yours sincerely,
Margaret McCaffrey
