As a citizen I am concerned that our native wildlife and fauna, including our water systems and fish species be better protected from climate change and feral and introduced species. That they are all better protected from logging and the devastation that can occur from over development and loss of habitat.

Secure and improved legislation needs to be enacted to better protect now and in the future our fragile ecosystems.

Our Parks should be protected from logging. Feral and introduced species. That land be set aside in and around cities for parks and wetlands for nature and citizens to enjoy.

Protection from overdevelopment is key to keeping our fauna and wildlife safe and healthy.

Protection from overdevelopment is key to keeping land that is fertile from being rendered barren.

Our Parks, wildlife, fauna and water systems need better legislation to better protect them now and in the future.
