Hi I'm Chloe and I haven't written a submission before, but cannot just do nothing in this case. 1080 poison continues to cause horrifying, torturous deaths to any animal who eats it. First and foremost, no creature deserves to die in this way. Ever. Second, this is effecting our biodiversity in a big, devastating way. 1080 has been banned in most countries, some banned it permanently, decades ago. 1080 has killed countless Australian creatures, who have just as much right to be here as anyone else does. I am ashamed that we still have this destructive poison, being put in so many, many places, completely legally. We have a responsibility towards all living creatures and they deserve a lot better than this. Please do the right thing by us all and ban 1080 now, before it does more damage.
