I fully support the Environment Protection Amendment (banning plastic bags, packaging and microbeads) I have been involved in researching this topic with my daughter who has been gathering facts about plastics and microbeads in our oceans for a school assignment and I have been blown away with the information and facts from the websites of CSIRO, Boomerang Alliance, Clean Up Australia and other related organisations. The facts are clear that changes are required and required now!! The volume of plastic being used in our everyday surrounding needs to be reduced dramatically to make any impact on our environment and wildlife.

We as a family have walked the beaches, found and collected bits of plastic in many shapes and sizes including the opaque round moulded beads that have been around for years.

As a voting Australian I feel that awareness of this issue needs to be raised and action needs to be taken. As such I would fully support the passing of this bill.

Our future is what we make it and change is required so there is a future for our wildlife, a healthy environment and a healthy food source for the future.
