RE: INQUIRY INTO RECYCLING AND WASTE MANAGEMENT

It's very frustrating as someone who tries to recycle, and encourage my family to recycle, when we hear stories about recycling going to landfill. It makes a mockery of everything I've tried to teach my children.

I buy recycled products, toilet paper, it's not fancy but it gets flushed where all the other paper goes. I've even had a pair of running leggings made out of plastic bottles, they made me happy every time I wore them. But I've never found them to buy again.

There are so many brilliant ideas online that don't seem to be made commercially so us, as consumers can buy them.

I would like The Australian Government to invest in businesses that produce goods from recycled waste, this is the direction we should be heading. I want to be able to buy these products, Australians need jobs and we need our kids to think about the future and how they can improve on what is available.
