

[REDACTED]

From: Eleni Smith <web@greens.org.au>
Sent: Thursday, 9 May 2019 12:41 PM
To: recyclinginquiry
Subject: Waste revolution

RE: INQUIRY INTO RECYCLING AND WASTE MANAGEMENT

Waste impacts me because of the impact it has on the land and water ways. Much waste in poisoning and filling all the precious nature areas we have. This in turn will permanently impact the land for our future generations. It is here and now that we need to find a resolution for this and and cease the progression of such a wasteful way of life.

Finding a way to make recycling in Australia a profitable thing is what is needed. To make it profitable the item that is to be recycled needs to be a free product ie: the bottle picked up off the street and put in a deposit bin. Then a company can use this free product to creat something worth selling and making a profit out of. To do all this it would be reliant on either an increase in rates for bin collections, so that the extra money in rates can pay for the collection and sorting of the material or a series of bins put in towns that people can deliver specific items that are wanted by a company and the company can pick them up at their own expense.

The way to the future of recycling is to make it worth something.

-- Eleni Smith
[REDACTED]

I'm happy for my submission and details to be made public.