YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

I suffer from chronic pain due to an inoperable tumour, and found immense relief from CBD oil when I was visiting the US last year. It is frustrating beyond belief that this non-psychoactive substance is not legal in Australia, when it is legal, affordable and readily obtainable in nearly every other developed country in the world, without a prescription.

On a separate note, alcohol is far more damaging than cannabis, and yet is legal and readily available in Australia. While I do not smoke cannabis recreationally due to other health considerations, I would much rather see a legal, regulated cannabis industry in Australia than a black market industry with profits going to drug syndicates. It's time that Australia joined the rest of the developed world on this issue.
