YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

Having suffered years, especially as a child, breathing second hand smoke on train stations and in public, I implore the government to prevent the legalisation of marijuana, a strong-smelling substance.

I also fear the slippery slope of drug legalisation. Today it is marijuana, will it be cocaine or ecstasy tomorrow? Those pushing for drug legalisation won't go home happy and content if they get their legal marijuana; they will become more enraged and angry than ever - demanding more legalisation of banned substances - and will be emboldened by the weakness of legislators who give in to them.

There are major problems with arguments for legalisation - including that it would reduce the number of crimes committed; this is stupid logic - we would have no criminal code at all if that were regarded as a significant benefit.

Let us better manage what legal drugs are already out there - the scourge of cigarettes - from litter to highly aggressive behaviour from smokers who refuse to be told to consider other human beings around them. Continue to control and manage alcohol sales.
