Yes.

Do not allow tobacco companies to benefit for regulating cannabis. All income generated by it should be reinvested back into the community especially communities hit hardest by its enforcement.

How about expunging of all criminal records of people who have been arrested or fined for it?

Racial implications - when you disallow or make illegal these substances, the rich elite class can still access them and are not prosecuted so disproportionately these are enforced for minority and the poor.

This a naturally occurring plant that doesn't need any industrial process for consumption such as tobacco.

It is outrageous to call it a drug to begin with.

In a world in which you can kill yourself with alcohol, gambling and tobacco, it is laughable to have cannabis illegal.

Even the Bible (Genesis) says something along the lines of 'I give you all the plants with seeds'

What is next, making parsley illegal?

People having been smoking weed forever, and still to this day scientists cannot establish any long term effects of cannabis. And believe me they've been trying..

Select all that apply. Do you think there should be restrictions on the use of cannabis? :

Personal use of cannabis should be legal. ,Sale of cannabis should be legal and regulated. ,Cultivation of cannabis for personal use should be legal.,There should be no restrictions.

YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

Just do whatever we're doing for beer or wine. My personal experience is that I have never ever seen anyone hurt someone or themselves on cannabis but I have seen many drunk people have fights and injure each other. I don't see anyone pleading for educating the youth about not having beer. In fact, you can't escape the ads.

How about all sports events? Every ad is gambling. Where is the mental health concern there?

Children will not be able to get weed if it is regulated, just as they can't access pubs. When it is illegal, they can access cannabis with ease since criminals are not state bodies.

Prohibition does not work. Many have tried, NOONE has succeeded. People still have parties in Iran and Saudi Arabia.
