YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

Whether it is legalised or remains illegal, education on cannabis use is valuable for young people and the broader public. Not only should we teach people of the supposed “dangers” of cannabis, but more importantly the abundance of health benefits it provides. If a public health concern is second hand smoke consumption, prohibiting public use will mitigate that problem. For years and years, tobacco has been sold all over the world and the fatality statistics and health related problems are alarming. However, cannabis use is very hard to link to fatality

Do you have any additional comments or suggestions?:

Wake up. You're selling tobacco products legally and killing people. Tobacco has no health benefits, whereas cannabis does and you're concerned about the public's health?
