YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

I have a close friend who has suffered from Epilepsy for quite a few years now, dealing with severe seizures regularly. He was prescribed medication which only made seizures worse, but was still encouraged to take them and basically told there are no other options. Upon discovering the role played by THCA in aiding his condition, he has now been without a single seizure in over two years. As you would be aware, he is not the only person in this situation. It's completely unfair and unjust to deprive humans, and animals, of a known suppressant that will almost definitely change their lives and enable them to live as intended, without fear of seizures, and being criminalized and having their name tainted for the rest of their lives as a "drug user".
