YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

Im a regular member of the community.

I believe the use of cannabinoids should be an individual choice.

Education directed to the general public on cannabinoids, endocannabinoid systems and individual physical/mental health states is well over due. If the average person was to use the Australian government's drug advisory website, they would be met with false Cannabis information presented as factual and "best practice" standard.

I believe every individual adult should possess the right to cultivate a personal supply of cannabis. Supply or manufacture of large scale cannabis products should be licenced in stages, suiting the every day Victorian. A new business avenue for previously demonised individuals seems fair. This must favour Victorian citizens, a diverse market will thrive and stimulate a struggling economy.

Recreational cannabis should be regarded separately, only due to the difference in consumers of each market.

I would expect strict guideline and regulation on medical cannabis.

Primarily to benefit the patient.

Medical cannabis needs to be free of pesticides, toxic chemical residues, pathogenic microbes, fungi, heavy metals etc..

I believe this is best achieved by rigorous testing, and world standard manufacturing protocol.

Recreational cannabis should be an individual adult choice and right. Social acceptance and positive inclusivity should be encouraged.

The main points for me are;

No more prosecuting individuals for cannabis related "offences"

Restricting big pharma industry involvement, and encouraging diverse and locally owned markets.
