YOUR SUBMISSION

There is very little down side to this as has been showed in other country's. there are health benefits, financial benefits aswell as crime benefits. We legally sell the most damaging drug of all alcohol however due to social norms this is allowed and to an extent encouraged in our culture. People that are dead against ideas such is this are generally uneducated on the subject and and believe religiously in what they were told as kids that drugs are bad without even understand what the word drug means. The financial benefit especially at the moment with government debts been and an all time high can not be underestimated and may provide a legitimate opportunity to massively raise revenue with the addition or increasing of tax's. This is the opposite of how things work and the moment with large amounts of money and police time wasted on people that use and that are assisted with cannabis. It is time for use to grow up and move on from this time of prohibition and to start seeing this as an opportunity rather than a problem. Thank you
