YOUR SUBMISSION

Cannabis has in determined side effects on mental health. It has also been strengthened in its potency by genetic modification.

In the hands of the innocent or uneducated, it can have a profoundly negative effect on the individual.

It can also create lethargy and laziness. In small doses it may be positive and relaxing or even healing but dosage varies with each individual.

Cannabis may be positive if applied correctly but the risk of a no return to normality is always there.

Do you have any additional comments or suggestions?:

I have experienced doing business with countries that have legalised cannabis and have noted that those who lobbied for the legalising of it now regret it.

Use of cannabis should remain legal for medical treatment only. Sale should remain illegal. Sale of cannabis should be legal and regulated.
