YOUR SUBMISSION

Submission:

In reference to the point about education of children and young people of the dangers of cannabis use, I would also add that adults of any age would benefit from learning more about the substance and its potential dangers of psychoactive drugs.

I believe that the best means of achieving public health and safety outcomes and addressing criminal relating to illegal cannabis use is to make personal use legal for people over the age of 25 (when the development of the brain is finished) and creating a legal and regulated market similar to the alcohol industry.

I think that above all education, long term scientific research and government regulation are the best means of ensuring that cannabis use is taken with responsibility and care.
