Do you have any additional comments or suggestions?:

Regulate it and make it legal. The world we live in today is filled with variance, and as much positivity arises from changes we make. Give people who could do with natural medication the chance to enhance their quality of life free from stigma. It is a plant, it has never killed anyone, it can help with mental health, cancer, other therapies too many to mention and increase wellbeing. This is what society needs, it can be taxed and does not cause violence like alcohol, opioids, pharmaceuticals or other ‘therapies’. Australia is ready to take on a new, more responsible and worldly role for its citizens.
