Shame on the government for what they are doing. Where are public tenants supposed to go? There are so many Sick and old people Living in public housing. We don't know one day what will happen to us. We could all need public housing . Even if you have money now, you might not always have it. This is really shameful what is happening. I've seen it happen in Dallas, lots of government houses being knocked down and sold off privately. The government is not interested in rebuilding It for the poor. There are so many people on the streets, using the toilets at the shopping centers. People protest about stupid Things. They should be protesting about this. We are supposed to be a lucky country but too many people are selfish and blind to what is really going on. Sometimes you have to see behind the curtain, not just see the curtain. Really shameful. Building private Houses to make big profits when people haven't got anywhere to live. So many people now don't have money for food. Now the government is taking their homes away too.
