My submission relates to the standard requirement in most retirement villages that on vacating a premise the occupant is required to pay to have the premises restored to their original condition. When I/we applied to have a 4 KW roof solar system installed at our cost of $5100 we were required to sign a document before work commenced that we would restore the premises to their original condition if/when we vacated the premises. This seemed utterly ridiculous to us and annoyed us greatly. Graham Mourney
