I am a 84 yr old resident living in a retirement village and my concern is of a safety matter. my shower has a large lip and I am too afraid of having a shower in case I fall. I am told that it is independent living what I want to know is what that has to do with the age group the units are being sold too a person can still be independent if they are short or tall it changes little about the suitability of the items installed into a village for over 55yrs as it is expected they will be there for the years until they get to my age. It would cost about $8k for me to change the bathroom I can not afford this on a fixed income.

With a projected aging community there is an urgent need to have a Commissioner or preferably an Ombudsman to adjudicate on these and other industry matters.
