Having travelled recently on Vicroads roads in East Gippsland and living in south west Victoria, I cannot believe the difference in the standard of roads in the 2 regions. East Gippsland has well maintained main roads with mown verges and exceptionally good signage. South west Victoria has rooads which third world cohntries would consider a disgrace - patchy remedial maintenannce at best, lohng grass on the rodsides, poor and confusing signage. Is it the standard and commitment of management which makes thd difference? Or is it the allocation of funding? Why not swap the regional managers arounc and see what happens?
